Stormtech Goes PFC Free for Spring 2018 Collection and Beyond

January 23rd, 2018 (Vancouver, BC) - Stormtech, a global leader in offering thoughtfully-designed apparel, bags and accessories for the promotional product and retail markets, is pleased to announce that beginning with the new Spring 2018 collection, they have eliminated environmentally-harmful perfluorinated carbons (PFCs) from their water repellent apparel products.

As an outdoor clothing brand that is at its best in nature, Stormtech is committed to sustainability and protecting the natural environment.

PFCs are a group of manufactured compounds that are widely used in the chemistry for water repellent finishes of high performance outerwear, to achieve a breathable fabric that is water/oil repellent.

All new water repellent products in the Spring 2018 collection are PFC free:

- Ozone Lightweight Shell & Vest - APJ-2 & APV-1
- Tradesmith Jacket - CWC-3
- Nautilus Insulated Jacket & Vest - KXR-1 & KXV-1
- Nautilus Quilted Jacket - QX-1
- Octane Lightweight Shell - NW-1
- Neutrino Shell - NS-1
- Warrior Training Jacket & Pant - STXJ-2 & STXP-2
- Torrent Snap Fit Poncho - SRP-2

“We partnered with fabric mills and garment factories to find alternative, breathable water repellent treatments that are PFC free without sacrificing performance of our materials,” said Blake Annable, President & CEO of Stormtech. “Together with our suppliers, we have selected the best fluorocarbon-free technologies that have proven reliable on our materials.” continues Annable.

Recent studies have shown that PFCs have the potential to cause environmental and health issues, with many industry leading brands making strides to move away.

Stormtech has undertaken this transition voluntarily and will expand their commitment into the Fall 2018 collection, with all outerwear fabrics becoming 100% PFC free. Furthermore, by the year 2020, Stormtech will manufacture its entire collection PFC free. This includes those incorporating H2XTREME, Stormtech's proprietary waterproof technology.
